

Worry and experience of harm from everyday risks

People in China are most worried about severe weather events (76%) and road and traffic accidents (76%) causing them serious harm, the two highest levels of concern among the ten risks asked about. Across all ten, worry in China runs higher than the global average. Concern far outstrips lived experience, however: while 76% worry about severe weather events, only 32% have actually been harmed by it in the past two years. The harm most commonly experienced in China is severe weather events (32%). The gap between worry and experience is widest for road and traffic accidents, where 76% are worried but 25% have actually been affected.
