

Worry and experience of harm from everyday risks

People in El Salvador are most worried about prolonged severe weather (73%) and severe weather events (64%) causing them serious harm, the two highest levels of concern among the ten risks asked about. Across all ten, worry in El Salvador runs lower than the global average. Concern far outstrips lived experience, however: while 73% worry about prolonged severe weather, only 19% have actually been harmed by it in the past two years. The harm most commonly experienced in El Salvador is prolonged severe weather (19%). The gap between worry and experience is widest for prolonged severe weather, where 73% are worried but 19% have actually been affected.

Top of mind risk to safety

Asked to name the single greatest risk to their daily safety, people in El Salvador most often point to road and transport accidents (24%), above the global figure of 15%. Health problems ranks second (8%), followed by crime and violence (8%).

Risks which ranked below 2% of the global average are aggregated into this 'Other risks' category.