

Worry and experience of harm from everyday risks

People in Ghana are most worried about road and traffic accidents (91%) and violent crime (87%) causing them serious harm, the two highest levels of concern among the ten risks asked about. Across all ten, worry in Ghana runs higher than the global average. Concern far outstrips lived experience, however: while 91% worry about road and traffic accidents, only 13% have actually been harmed by it in the past two years. The harm most commonly experienced in Ghana is the food they eat (22%). The gap between worry and experience is widest for wildfires, where 85% are worried but 4% have actually been affected.

Top of mind risk to safety

Asked to name the single greatest risk to their daily safety, people in Ghana most often point to health problems (24%), above the global figure of 13%. The economy and personal finances ranks second (19%), followed by road and transport accidents (15%).

Risks which ranked below 2% of the global average are aggregated into this 'Other risks' category.
