

Worry and experience of harm from everyday risks

People in Hong Kong are most worried about prolonged severe weather (61%) and severe weather events (61%) causing them serious harm, the two highest levels of concern among the ten risks asked about. Across all ten, worry in Hong Kong runs lower than the global average. Concern far outstrips lived experience, however: while 61% worry about prolonged severe weather, only 4% have actually been harmed by it in the past two years. The harm most commonly experienced in Hong Kong is mental health issues (8%). The gap between worry and experience is widest for prolonged severe weather, where 61% are worried but 4% have actually been affected.

Top of mind risk to safety

- Road and transport
- Crime and violence
- Health
- Economy and financial
- Climate and severe weather
- War/terrorism
- Work
- Other risks*
- Nothing/No risk
- Don't know

Asked to name the single greatest risk to their daily safety, people in Hong Kong most often point to crime and violence (21%), above the global figure of 10%. Health problems ranks second (19%), followed by road and transport accidents (19%).

Risks which ranked below 2% of the global average are aggregated into this 'Other risks' category.