

Worry and experience of harm from everyday risks

People in Hungary are most worried about prolonged severe weather (72%) and road and traffic accidents (66%) causing them serious harm, the two highest levels of concern among the ten risks asked about. Across all ten, worry in Hungary runs lower than the global average. Concern far outstrips lived experience, however: while 72% worry about prolonged severe weather, only 10% have actually been harmed by it in the past two years. The harm most commonly experienced in Hungary is prolonged severe weather (10%). The gap between worry and experience is widest for prolonged severe weather, where 72% are worried but 10% have actually been affected.

Top of mind risk to safety

Asked to name the single greatest risk to their daily safety, people in Hungary most often point to the economy and personal finances (27%), above the global figure of 14%. Health problems ranks second (18%), followed by war or terrorism (8%).

Risks which ranked below 2% of the global average are aggregated into this 'Other risks' category.
