WORLD RISK POLL

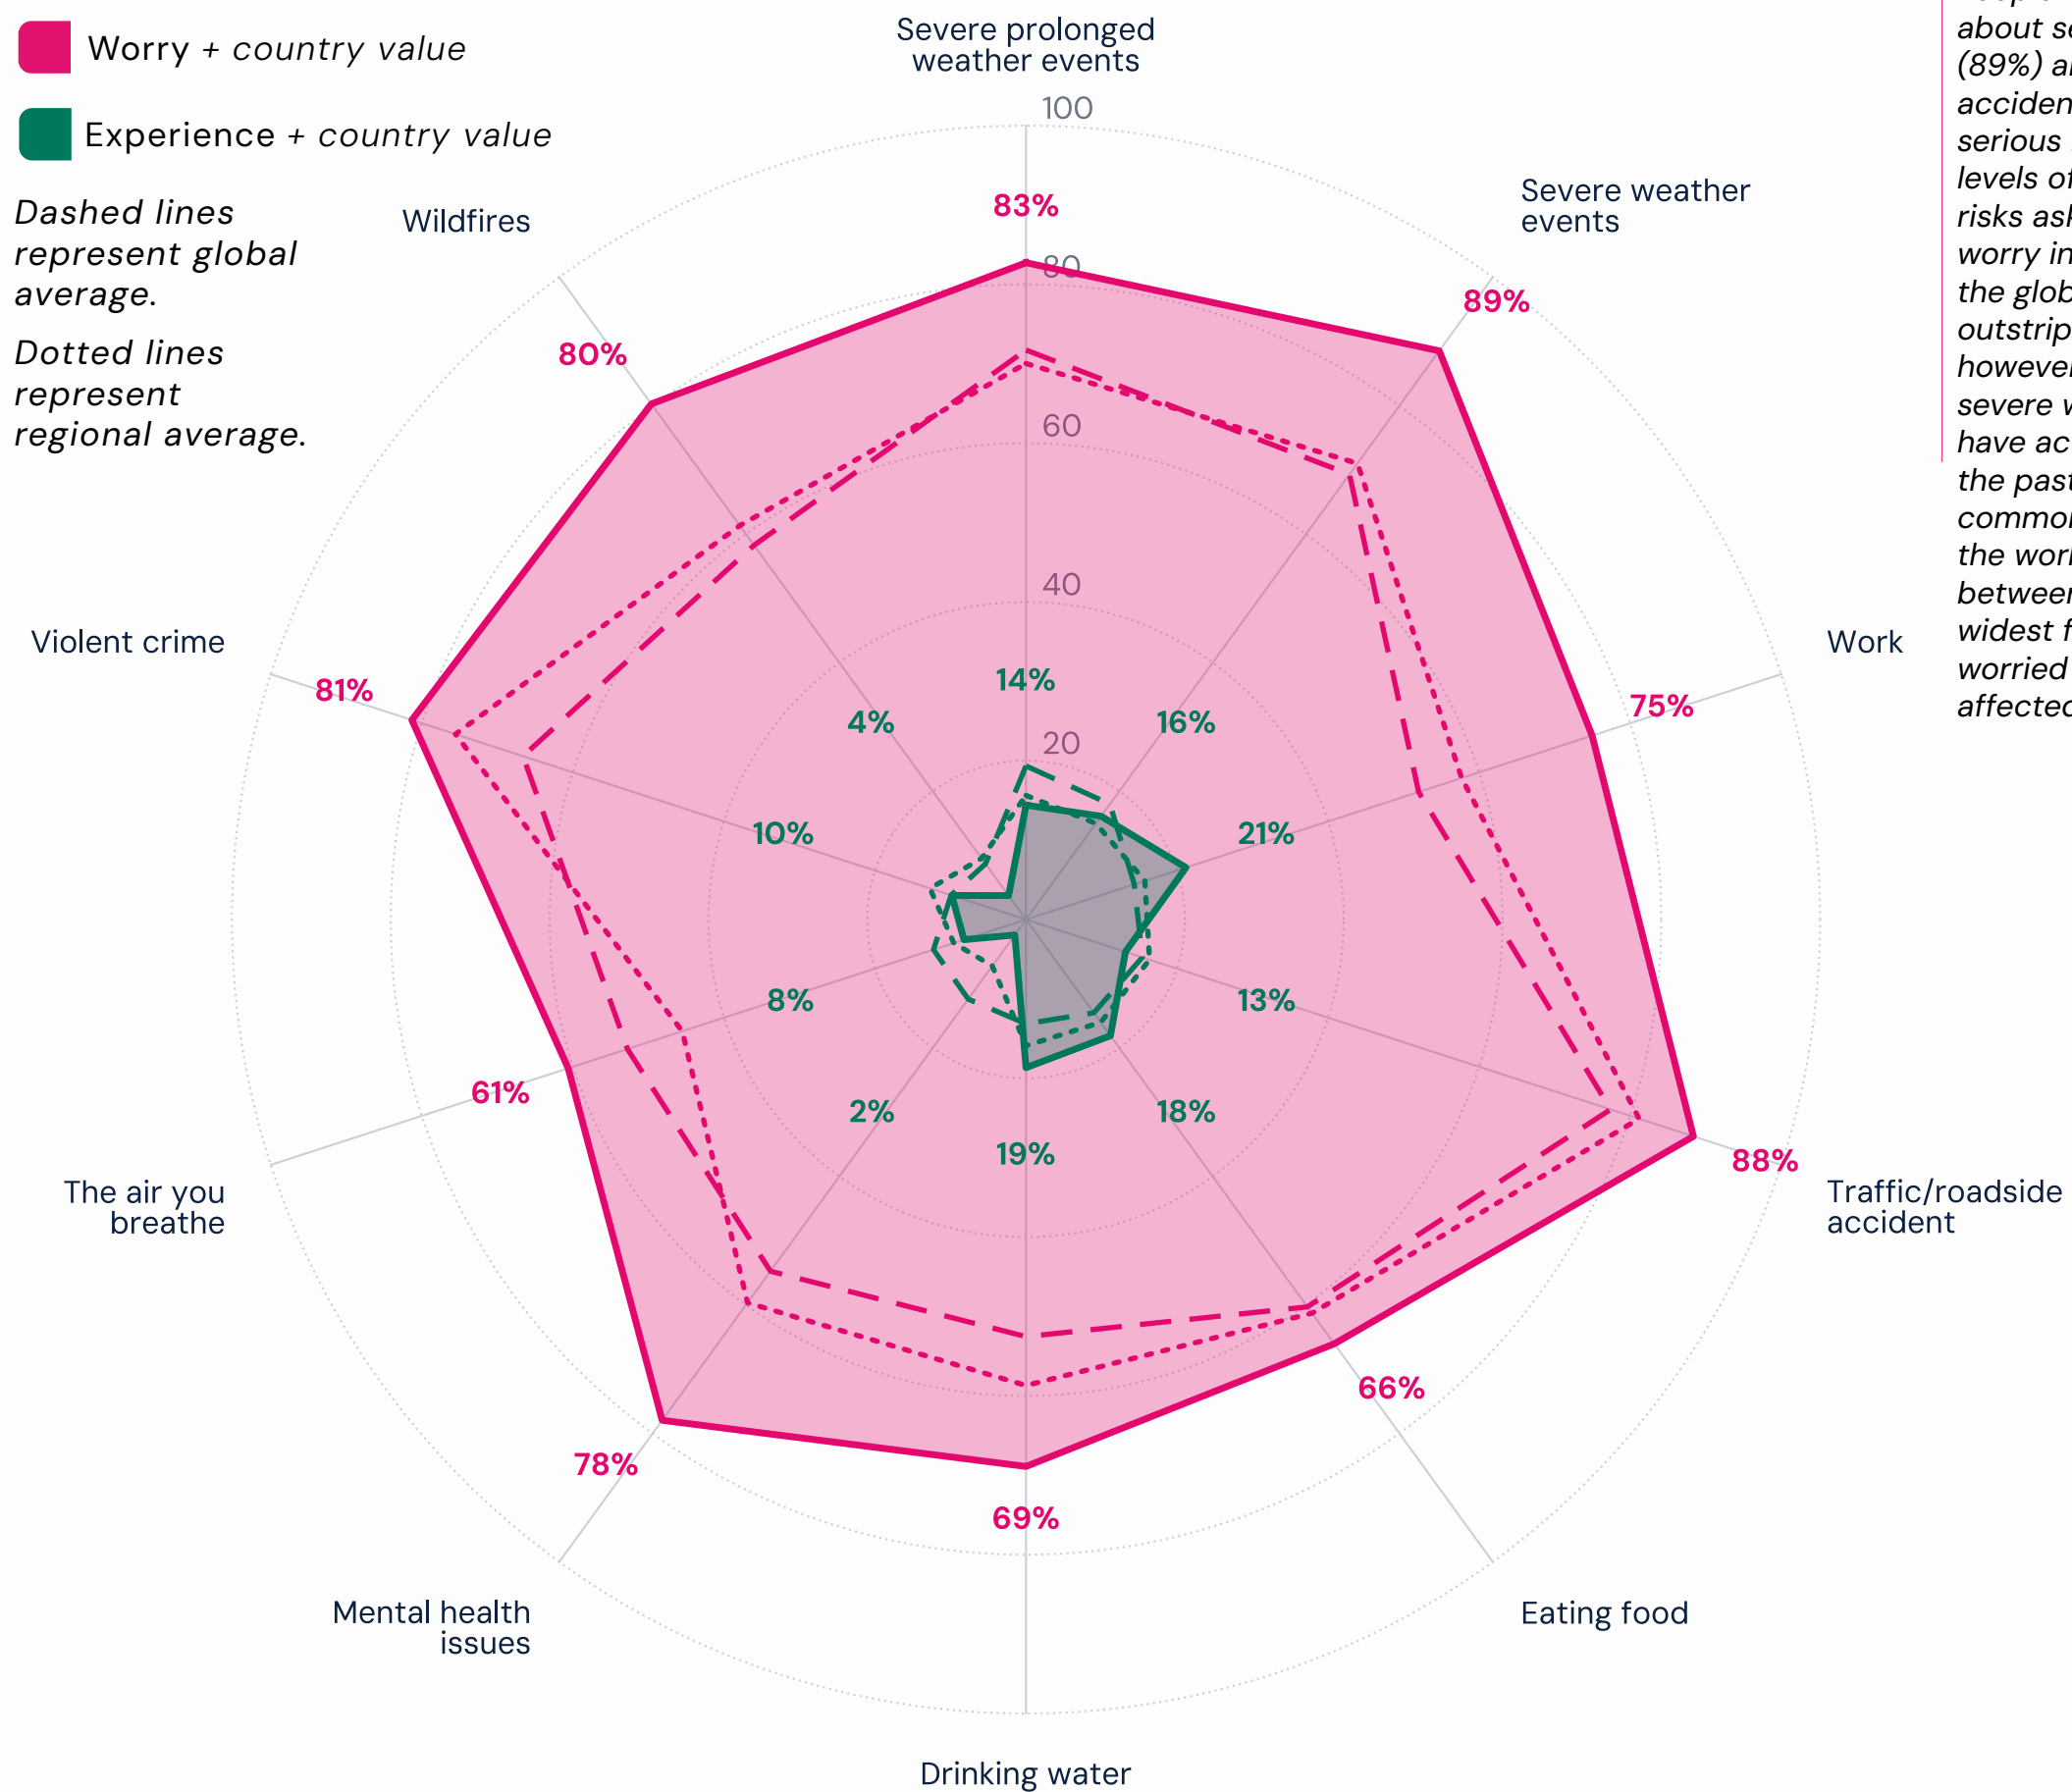

The quiet hazards: How everyday risk shapes daily life

Worry and experience of harm from everyday risks

Worry + country value
Experience + country value

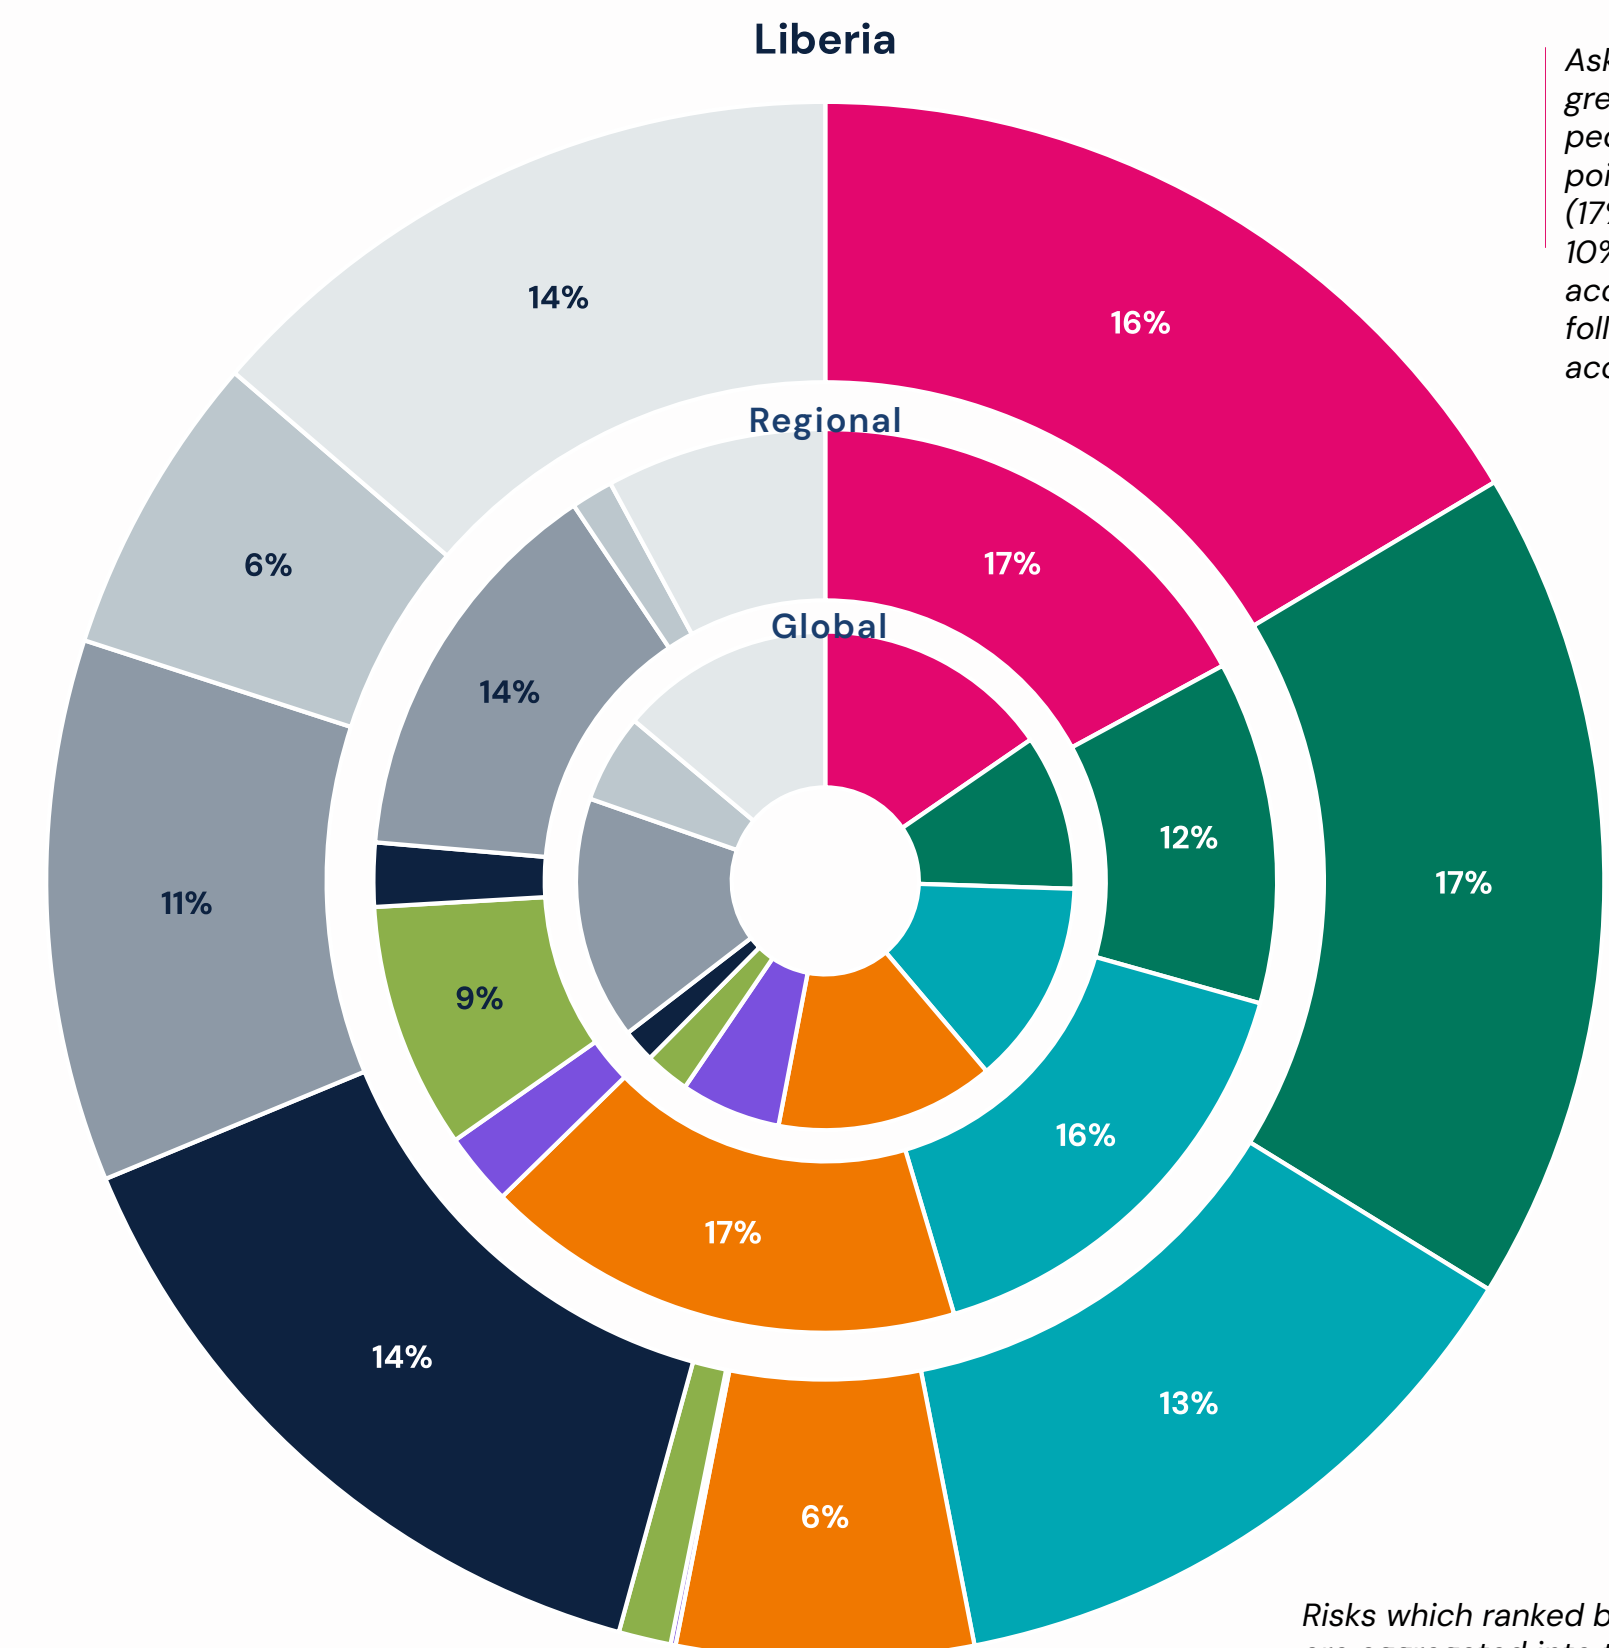

Dashed lines represent global average.
Dotted lines represent regional average.

People in Liberia are most worried about severe weather events (89%) and road and traffic accidents (88%) causing them serious harm, the two highest levels of concern among the ten risks asked about. Across all ten, worry in Liberia runs higher than the global average. Concern far outstrips lived experience, however: while 89% worry about severe weather events, only 16% have actually been harmed by it in the past two years. The harm most commonly experienced in Liberia is the work they do (21%). The gap between worry and experience is widest for wildfires, where 80% are worried but 4% have actually been affected.
