

Worry and experience of harm from everyday risks

People in Libya are most worried about violent crime (63%) and road and traffic accidents (63%) causing them serious harm, the two highest levels of concern among the ten risks asked about. Across all ten, worry in Libya runs lower than the global average. Concern far outstrips lived experience, however: while 63% worry about violent crime, only 6% have actually been harmed by it in the past two years. The harm most commonly experienced in Libya is road and traffic accidents (14%). The gap between worry and experience is widest for wildfires, where 62% are worried but 4% have actually been affected.

Top of mind risk to safety

Asked to name the single greatest risk to their daily safety, people in Libya most often point to war or terrorism (24%), above the global figure of 3%. Climate change and severe weather ranks second (14%), followed by health problems (12%).

Risks which ranked below 2% of the global average are aggregated into this 'Other risks' category.
