

Worry and experience of harm from everyday risks

Worry + country value
Experience + country value

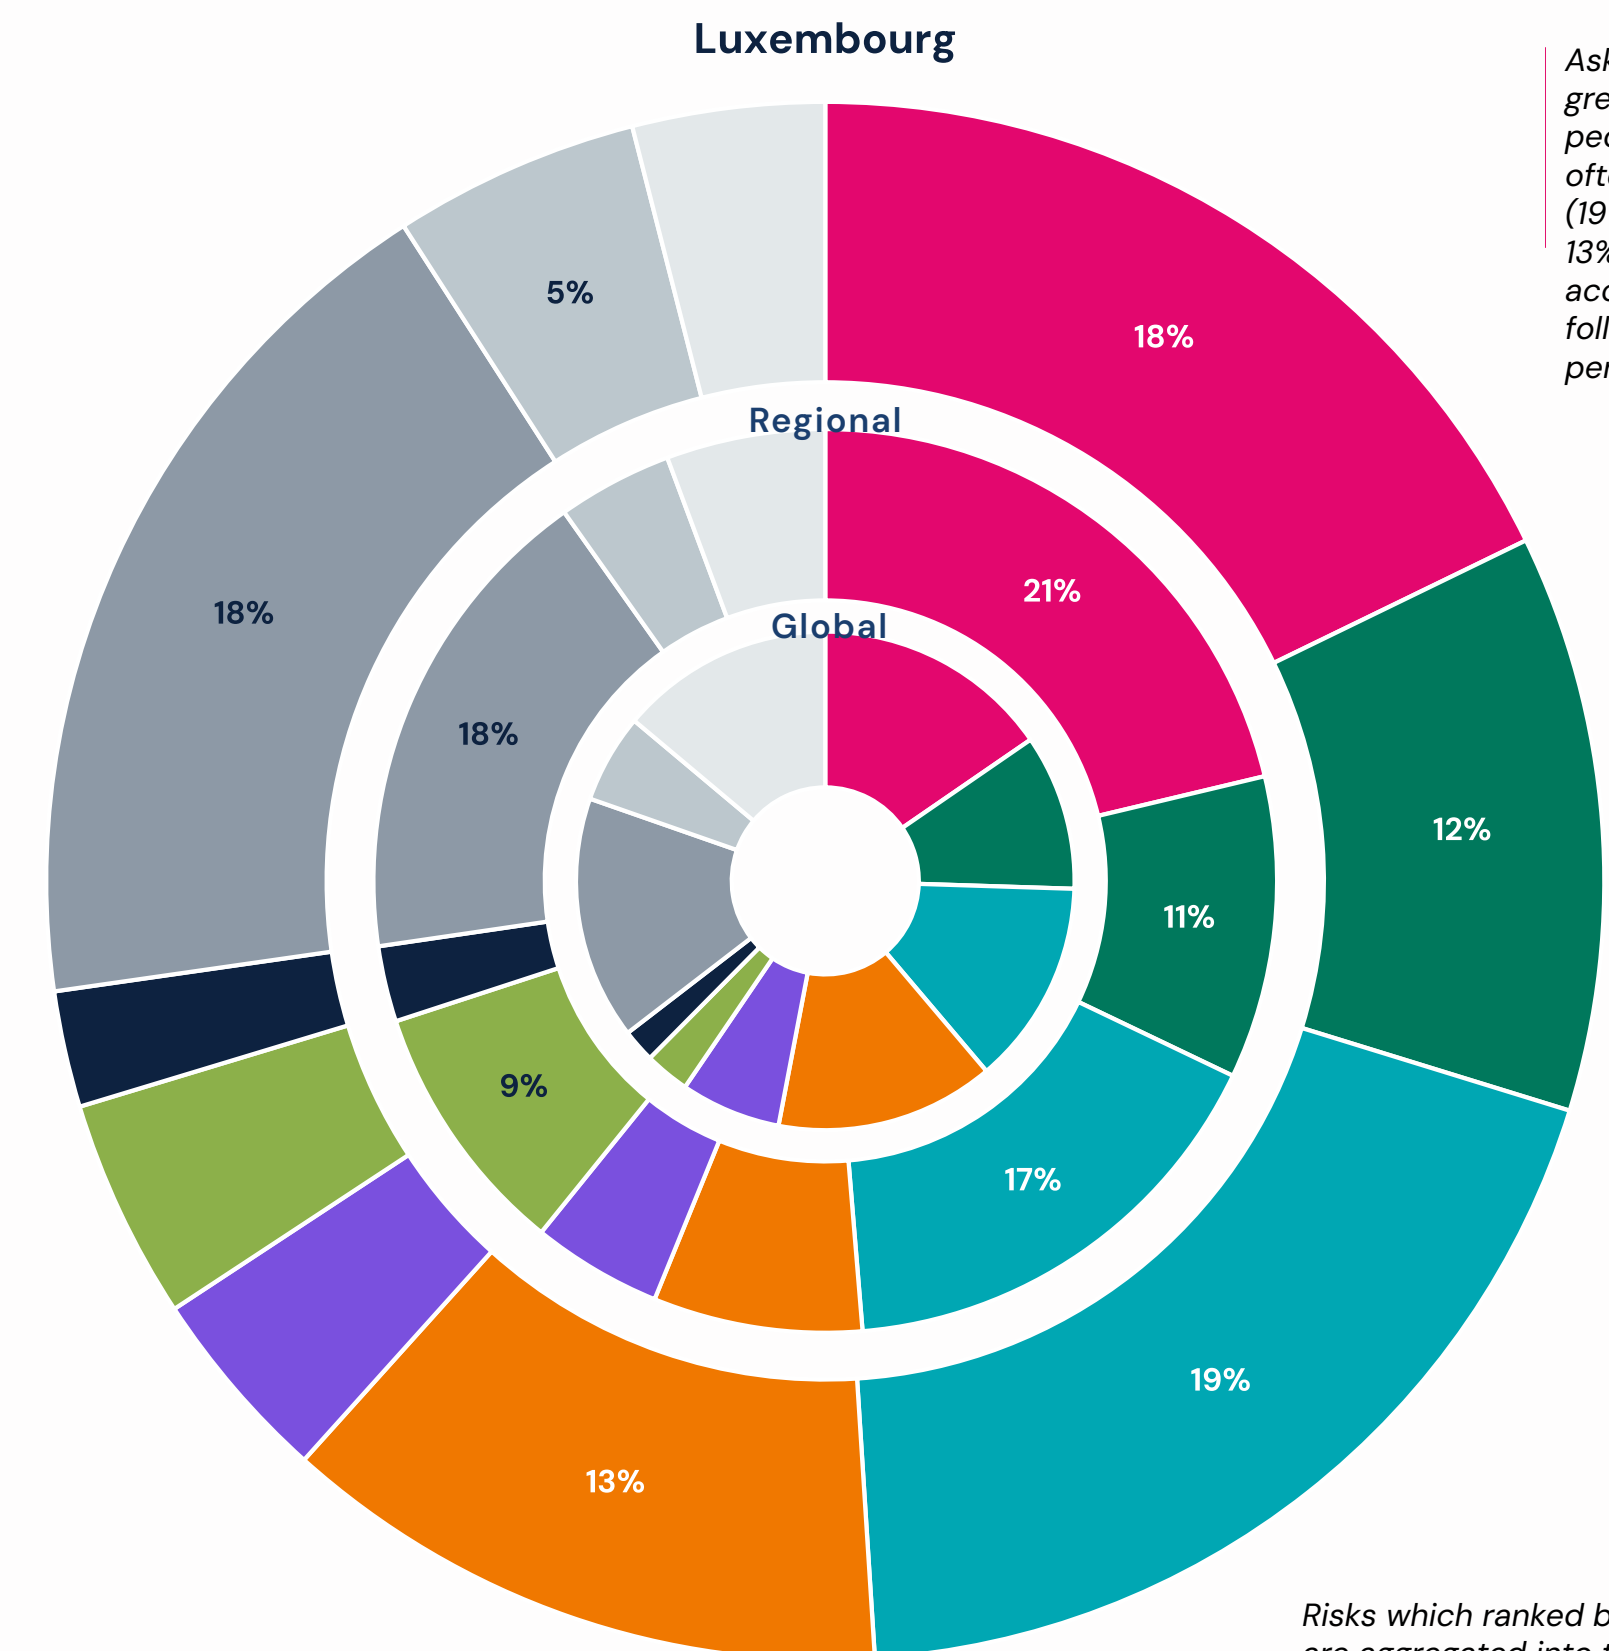

Dashed lines represent global average.
Dotted lines represent regional average.

People in Luxembourg are most worried about severe weather events (67%) and prolonged severe weather (64%) causing them serious harm, the two highest levels of concern among the ten risks asked about. Across all ten, worry in Luxembourg runs lower than the global average. Concern far outstrips lived experience, however: while 67% worry about severe weather events, only 10% have actually been harmed by it in the past two years. The harm most commonly experienced in Luxembourg is the work they do (11%). The gap between worry and experience is widest for violent crime, where 63% are worried but 3% have actually been affected.
