

Worry and experience of harm from everyday risks

People in Malawi are most worried about prolonged severe weather (96%) and road and traffic accidents (95%) causing them serious harm, the two highest levels of concern among the ten risks asked about. Across all ten, worry in Malawi runs higher than the global average. Concern far outstrips lived experience, however: while 96% worry about prolonged severe weather, only 33% have actually been harmed by it in the past two years. The harm most commonly experienced in Malawi is prolonged severe weather (33%). The gap between worry and experience is widest for road and traffic accidents, where 95% are worried but 11% have actually been affected.

Top of mind risk to safety

Asked to name the single greatest risk to their daily safety, people in Malawi most often point to the economy and personal finances (22%), above the global figure of 14%. Crime and violence ranks second (18%), followed by health problems (17%).

Risks which ranked below 2% of the global average are aggregated into this 'Other risks' category.
