

Worry and experience of harm from everyday risks

Worry + country value
Experience + country value

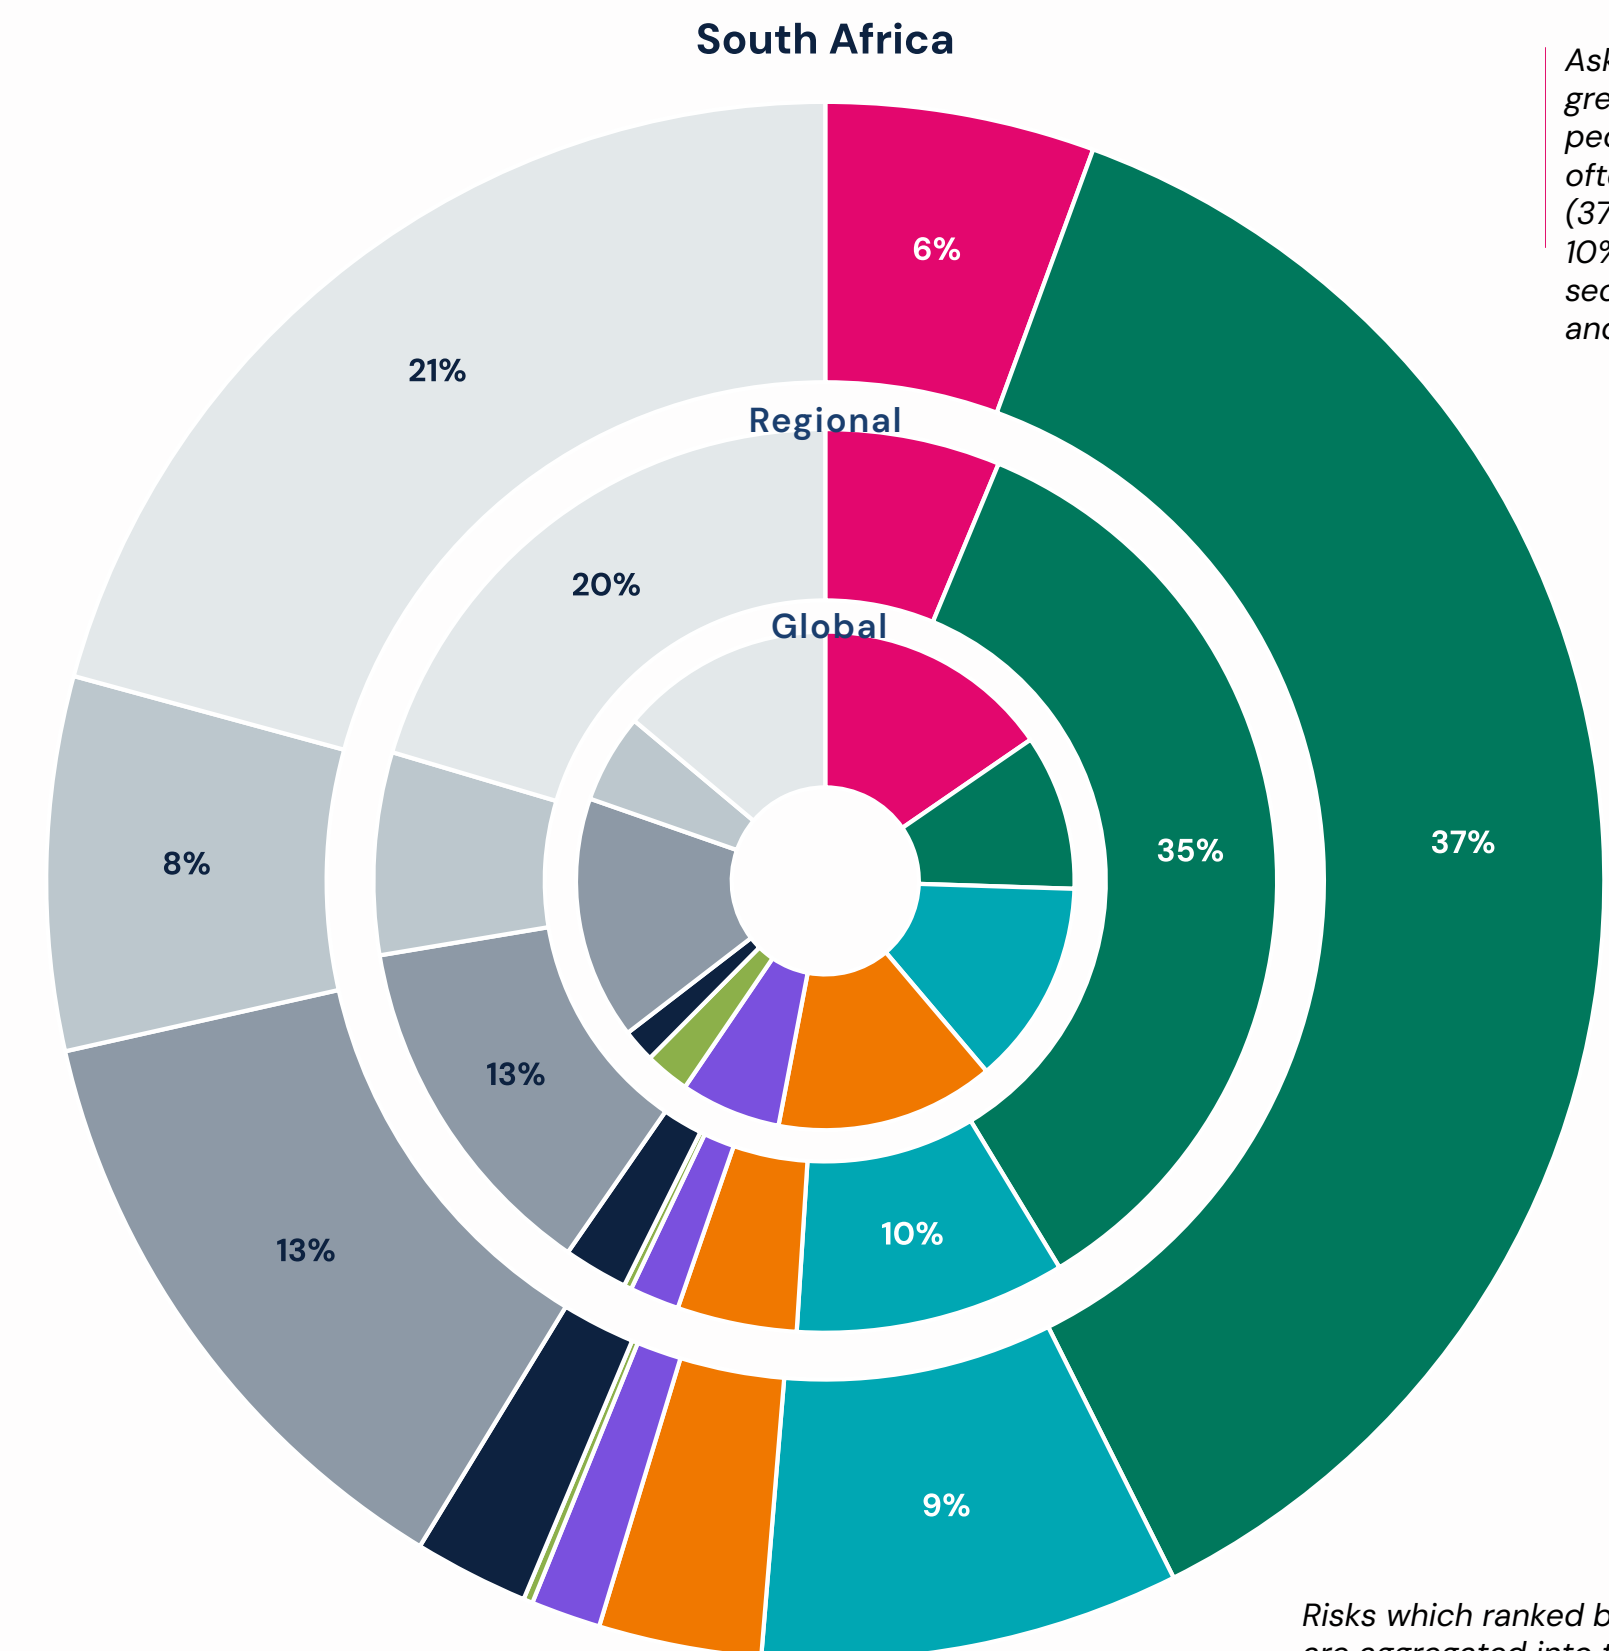

Dashed lines represent global average.
Dotted lines represent regional average.

People in South Africa are most worried about violent crime (83%) and road and traffic accidents (80%) causing them serious harm, the two highest levels of concern among the ten risks asked about. Across all ten, worry in South Africa runs in line with the global average. Concern far outstrips lived experience, however: while 83% worry about violent crime, only 20% have actually been harmed by it in the past two years. The harm most commonly experienced in South Africa is violent crime (20%). The gap between worry and experience is widest for road and traffic accidents, where 80% are worried but 13% have actually been affected.

Top of mind risk to safety

Road and transport
Crime and violence
Health
Economy and financial
Climate and severe weather
War/terrorism
Work
Other risks*
Nothing/No risk
Don't know

Asked to name the single greatest risk to their daily safety, people in South Africa most often point to crime and violence (37%), above the global figure of 10%. Health problems ranks second (9%), followed by road and transport accidents (6%).

Risks which ranked below 2% of the global average are aggregated into this 'Other risks' category.