

Worry and experience of harm from everyday risks

People in Switzerland are most worried about prolonged severe weather (70%) and severe weather events (63%) causing them serious harm, the two highest levels of concern among the ten risks asked about. Across all ten, worry in Switzerland runs lower than the global average. Concern far outstrips lived experience, however: while 70% worry about prolonged severe weather, only 10% have actually been harmed by it in the past two years. The harm most commonly experienced in Switzerland is severe weather events (11%). The gap between worry and experience is widest for prolonged severe weather, where 70% are worried but 10% have actually been affected.

Top of mind risk to safety

- Road and transport
- Crime and violence
- Health
- Economy and financial
- Climate and severe weather
- War/terrorism
- Work
- Other risks*
- Nothing/No risk
- Don't know

Asked to name the single greatest risk to their daily safety, people in Switzerland most often point to health problems (23%), above the global figure of 13%. Road and transport accidents ranks second (23%), followed by the economy and personal finances (10%).

Risks which ranked below 2% of the global average are aggregated into this 'Other risks' category.